SCHOOL OF METHODS

For Western Kentucky Bible School Workers Next Week.

HERE AT McLEAN COLLEGE

Expected That Many Visitors Will Be Entertained in Dormitories.

The Western Kentucky School of Methods for Bible school workers, will meet at McLean College June 30 and remain in session until July 5. The school is under the auspices of the Kentucky Bible-school Association. Kentucky had its first school of this kind last year at Morehead. This year three are scheduled—at Hopkinsville, Lexington and Corbin. All Bible-school workers, including ministers, superintendents, other officers and teachers are expected to attend.

The faculty will be as follows: W. C. Bower, Professor of Religious Pedagogy in the College of the Bible, Lexington, instructor in Religious Education and Missions. Prof. Bower will also deliver one special address. Miss Hazel A. Lewis, National Elementary Secretary, instructor in Elementary Division. Miss Lewis will deliver one special address. W. J. Clarke, Adult Superintendent Kentucky Christian Bible school Association, instructor in Church History and Bible-school organization. H. D. Smith, minister Hopkinsville, lecturer on The Holy Land. Other special speakers—the devotional period each morning and one or two of the evening addresses will be given by the ministers of Western Kentucky. Special music and other features of the program will be announced later.

Visitors will be entertained in the dormitory rooms for the entire time for $5.00, which includes lodging, meals and matriculation fee. Visitors will bring pillow-cases, sheets, blankets and towels, as the rooms do not include these things.

Daily services will be held at 9 a. m. and 2:30 and 7:45 p. m.

SAD RETURN

Young Widow Coming From California With Corpse of Husband.

Ben Yancey, a young man of the Carl neighborhood, who married an adopted daughter of Nick Lacy, died in California of tuberculosis this week. He went to that state about two years ago on account of failing health. He leaves his young wife and two children, who will arrive here with the body next Monday and it will be interred at his old home. Mr. Yancey was about 27 years old.

HOPKINSVILLE BOY

Awarded High Honors In Washington, D. C. High School.

Conway N. Kitchen, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kitchen, graduated this month from the Central High School, of Washington, D. C., with high honors. He won the four-year scholarship to "Washington and Lee University" at Lexington, Va. He was first lieutenant of his cadet company and received a gold medal for service. He was also in the successful cadet company one year and won the competition drill prize. His scholarship was won on his entire four-year record in the Central High School.

Young Kitchen is a native of Hopkinsville, but moved with his parents to Washington when quite young. His parents are justly proud of his success and it is easy to predict for the youth a brilliant future.

TECHNICAL OBJECTION

Is Raised to the Petition Filed By R. C. Crenshaw at Frankfort.

Frankfort, Ky., June 25.—Unless Secretary of State Crecelius decides in his favor, or R. C. Crenshaw, of Christian county, can by proceedings in the Franklin Circuit Court secure an order requiring the Secretary of State to place his name on the primary ballot as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator in the Sixth district, Senator R. P. Salmon, of Hopkins county, will have no opposition for the nomination, by reason of Mr. Crenshaw's failure to file his personal petition in the office of Secretary of State Monday.

Mr. Crenshaw is expected here today. Senator Salmon was here yesterday and conferred with Attorney General Garnett and Secretary of State C. F. Crecelius. The latter has not decided what he will do with Mr. Crenshaw's personal petition, which was signed by Judge James H. Hazelrigg, of this city, in his name, and marked by the Secretary of State "offered, but not filed."

Senator Salmon insists that a personal petition cannot be signed by anyone else for a candidate, but he must sign it himself, but said: "I am taking no steps. I am waiting for the other side to act. I shall not be here at the drawing for places on the ballot, as I do not consider that I have opposition."

Section 6 of the primary act requires that the candidate's personal petition shall state the name, age, post-office address, political affiliations and all other qualifications of the candidate, and Senator Salmon's contention is that no one can do this for a candidate.

If Secretary Crecelius decides that Mr. Crenshaw's petition was not properly signed and filed in time, the only recourse for Mr. Crenshaw will be to bring proceedings under the act in this county. Circuit Judge Stout is out of the city, and County Judge Hieatt would have original and exclusive jurisdiction to decide the questions, and there would be no appeal from his decision.

Frankfort, Ky., June 27.—Secretary Crecelius decided against R. C. Crenshaw's name going on the ballot and he appealed to the courts and secured an order overruling the Secretary.

VACCINATE YOUR HOGS

Is The Advice of Agriculturalist Morgan to Prevent Cholera.

Mr. Morgan, the agriculturalist, who is employed by the Fiscal Court and the farming community, backed up by the business men of the city, seems to be doing a good and satisfactory work along all lines. He is a part, and a very important part, of the farming community and his suggestions are well worthy of attention. He is trying to induce the farmers to fight the hog cholera scourge and is much pleased by the willingness of those whom he serves in vaccinating hogs to prevent cholera. Mr. E. D. Jones, who has about 120 head, has had every one of them vaccinated. Others should imitate Mr. Jones. An ounce of prevention may save several hundred dollars.

CHANGE IN HOSIERY

Solid Colors Are to Remain, But Will Be Ornamented.

The new fad in hosiery has not reached Hopkinsville, but is liable to arrive by fall—at least that is what is to be feared.

According to the fashion papers solid colors will prevail, but there will be some ornamentation. Harmonizing colors of ribbon will begin near the top of the shoe and will be wound around the limb like strips on a barber's pole. Besides there will be other "catchy" ways along the line of ornamentation.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Annual Election To Be Held On Next Monday Night.

A LIVELY CONTEST IS ON.

Two Nominees For President and 1st and 2d Vice President.

Mr. Castleberry, Secretary, has mailed notices to all the members of the Hopkinsville Business Men's Association to meet at their rooms next Monday night at 8 o'clock. It is the night for the election of officers for the ensuing year and every member of the Association should be present if possible. This meeting and the result means much for the business of Hopkinsville. Twelve directors are to be elected as well as a President and two Vice-Presidents. The indications are that the election will be a lively one. Following is a list of officers to be filled and the names of those who will be balloted for:

Office of President—R. E. Cooper, C. O. Wright.

First Vice President—W. R. Wheeler, Odie Davis.

Second Vice President—M. C. Forbes, J. T. Wall.

The office of secretary will be filled by the new board of directors shortly after their election.

Board of Directors, 12 to be elected—John H. Bell, M. C. Boyd, D. D. Cayce, J. Henry Cates, Sr., George Crenshaw, C. A. Cundiff, Geo. D. Dalton, Garner Dalton, W. S. Davidson, A. H. Eckles, R. A. Fields, J. M. Forbes, G. E. Gary, V. L. Gates, E. H. Hester, Fred Jackson, J. C. Johnson, H. A. Keach, J. D. McGowan, J. J. Metcalfe, I. N. Neblett, Frank Rives, Paul Winn, Frank Yost.

SUPT. HAMLETT

Has Employed a Detective to Find Out Who Is Selling Teachers' Questions.

Louisville, Ky., June 26.—Superintendent of Public Instruction Barksdals Hamlett has employed a detective to investigate the sale of a list of the state teachers' examination and intends to prosecute the persons who stole them. He has secured the confession of one applicant for a teachership certificate. How many others secured them is not known. The probe will cover the entire state, according to Mr. Hamlett.

1 WHITE, 6 NEGROES

Sentenced to The Penitentiary By Judge Hanbery.

Wednesday afternoon Judge Hanbery sentenced seven prisoners to the penitentiary for various sentences, convicted at the June term of Circuit Court. All of the convicts are negroes excepting Frank McLean, said to be a Pennsylvania tramp. Their names and crimes are as follows:

Horace Springfield, murder; life sentence.

Charles Minor, murder; life sentence.

Bud Word, manslaughter; two to twenty-one years.

Frank McLean, housebreaking; two to ten years.

George Radford, alias Elkins, horse stealing; two to ten years.

O'Neal Sharp, housebreaking; two to ten years.

Freeman Offutt, breaking into meat house; two to ten years.

5 O'CLOCK WEDDING

Miss Cora Means and Mr. Geo. Yost Married at Methodist Church.

At 5 o'clock Thursday morning when the stars were paling and the birds were chirping in the trees, Miss Cora Means and Mr. George Yost ascended the steps leading to the audience room of the Methodist church and took a position in front of the sacred desk. Rev. A. R. Kassey had been notified to be present, and in a few impressive words pronounced the words that united the lives and destinies of the happy couple. Only the closest friends and relatives were present.

The wedding march was delightfully rendered by Mrs. J. L. Schrode and during the marriage ceremony the low tones of the instrument mingled with the solemn and impressive words of the officiating minister.

At the conclusion of the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Yost went to the L. & N. station and took a train for Diamond Springs, where they will remain for a week or more and return to Hopkinsville to make their home.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Means, who live east of the city on the Princeton road. Mr. Yost is a competent business man and is in charge of the harness department of the F. A. Yost & Co.

The Democrat Appears.

The first number of the Hopkinsville Democrat appeared yesterday morning and will be issued daily except Monday. The paper is a seven column sheet of eight pages and starts out with a good run of advertising and its various departments well arranged. It will be published from the former office of the New Era, which was erected upon the site of the building from which a paper of the same name was published by J. M. Dodd in 1878. Rev. Chas. L. Nourse is business manager, Mr. F. O. Wallace, late of Guthrie, general superintendent, Herschel A. Long city editor and Thos. L. Smith advertising solicitor and writer. Mr. Spalding Trafton, of Henderson, is acting as managing editor, and Thos. D. Roberts is reporter. Mr. John C. Duffy's name appears as publisher. The paper announces that it expects to supply a long felt want and that the idea of a business success is not the controlling desire of the publishers.

THE CHAUTAUQUA

For 1914 Has Not Been Assured, But Henderson Has Closed Contract.

Nothing new in regard to putting on the Chautauqua here next year has developed since our issue of last Tuesday. Nobody is saying anything and nobody seems to know anything about it. Henderson, however, has taken a step in advance of Hopkinsville. By persistent work the Henderson Y. M. C. A. secured enough signatures before the close of the Chautauqua to enter into a contract for a repetition next year, which was done at the close of the inimitable Ralph Bingham's lecture.

The Civic League will hold a called meeting next Saturday, July 5th. The primary object of the meeting is not known, but there is reason to believe that another day for cleaning up the town will be named.

WARM WAVE

Girl Saves Train.

Waving her sunbonnet as she ran up the track, 14-year-old Bertha Key flagged the Kansas City-Hot Springs Special on the Iron Mountain Road, preventing it from plunging through a burning bridge at Lonsdale, ten miles from Hot Springs. The engine stopped within eight feet of the burning structure. The passengers collected a purse of more than $100 and presented it to the girl.
